Course Period in Japan: From May 13th, 2018 to June 30th, 2018

This information pertains to one of the JICA Knowledge Co-Creation Program (Group & Region Focus) of the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA), which shall be implemented as part of the Official Development Assistance of the Government of Japan based on bilateral agreement between both Governments.

‘JICA Knowledge Co-Creation (KCC) Program’ as a New Start

In the Development Cooperation Charter which was released from the Japanese Cabinet in February 2015, it is clearly pointed out that “In its development cooperation, Japan has maintained the spirit of jointly creating things that suit partner countries while respecting ownership, intentions and intrinsic characteristics of the country concerned based on a field-oriented approach through dialogue and collaboration. It has also maintained the approach of building reciprocal relationships with developing countries in which both sides learn from each other and grow and develop together.” We believe that this ‘Knowledge Co-Creation Program’ will serve as a center of mutual learning process.
I. Concept

Background
In recent years, natural disasters which could shake the foundations of regions and nations are occurring more frequently and intensely all over the world. As a result, economic damage and loss are expanding. In developing countries, natural disasters such as flood, earthquake, tsunami, sediment related disasters have caused serious damages to public infrastructure (water supply and sewerage system, electric power supply, road, river, port, etc.) and recovering such public infrastructure requires a great deal of reinvestment and time. In this way, it repeatedly impedes social and economic development.

In 2005, “Hyogo Framework for Action 2005-2015(HFA)” was adopted at the Second UN World Conference on Disaster Reduction held in Kobe, the stricken area of the Great Hanshin-Awaji Earthquake. The HFA emphasized the strategic objectives to introduce risk reduction methods for emergency response and restoration/reconstruction by strengthening the earthquake resistance of important public facilities and infrastructure.

In 2015, “The Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction 2015-2030” was adopted at the Third UN World Conference in Sendai, Japan. It emphasizes that not only restoring the social functions as before but also overcoming the previous vulnerability so the society can become more resilient against the similar disasters that may occur in the future, i.e. making a disaster as a critical opportunity to “Build Back Better”.

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) adopted at the United Nations Conference in 2015 also sets the target “Building a resilient infrastructure(SDGs9)”. Japan has suffered from severe natural disasters, learned from the past and dealt with the disaster risk reduction both on “hardware” and “software” such as development of legal and administrative systems, putting disaster risk prevention and reduction measures in infrastructure development, researching and developing on the occurrence and forecasting of the disasters. As one of the pillars of international cooperation, Japan has a huge responsibility to transfer the knowledge and technology to developing countries.

This program “Disaster Management on Infrastructure (River, Road and Port)(A)” is designed for civil engineers who are in charge of the maintenance and management of the public engineering facilities in developing countries. The program aims to share the various efforts such as the way to reduce the damage on important public infrastructures from natural disasters (flood, earthquake, tsunami and sediment related disasters) and disaster recovery based on the Japan’s experiences, leading to the improved disaster risk prevention, mitigation and restoration for infrastructure in participating organizations.
For what?
This program aims to provide knowledge and applicable techniques for more practical, efficient and effective disaster risk prevention, mitigation, preparedness and rehabilitation on infrastructure (river, road and port).

For whom?
This program is offered to CIVIL ENGINEERS who are involved in infrastructure management (river, road and port, but not for building and housing), from the viewpoint of investigation, planning, implementation or maintenance.

How?
Participants shall have opportunities in Japan to obtain and expand their knowledge on disaster risk prevention systems, rehabilitation systems and special engineering methods for infrastructure that are implemented in Japan, through lectures, observations, and field visits. Participants will also formulate an Action Plan describing what the participants will do after going back to home country by utilizing the knowledge and ideas acquired in Japan.

For Your Reference

JICA and Capacity Development

The key concept underpinning JICA operations since its establishment in 1974 has been the conviction that “capacity development” is central to the socioeconomic development of any country, regardless of the specific operational scheme one may be undertaking, i.e. expert assignments, development projects, development study projects, Knowledge Co-Creation programs (until 2015, so called “training”), JO CV programs, etc.

Within this wide range of programs, Knowledge Co-Creation Programs have long occupied an important place in JICA operations. Conducted in Japan, they provide partner countries with opportunities to acquire practical knowledge accumulated in Japanese society. Participants dispatched by partner countries might find useful knowledge and re-create their own knowledge for enhancement of their own capacity or that of the organization and society to which they belong.

About 460 pre-organized programs cover a wide range of professional fields, ranging from education, health, infrastructure, energy, trade and finance, to agriculture, rural development, gender mainstreaming, and environmental protection. A variety of programs are being customized to address the specific needs of different target organizations, such as policy-making organizations, service provision organizations, as well as research and academic institutions. Some programs are organized to target a certain group of countries with similar developmental challenges.

Japanese Development Experience

Japan was the first non-Western country to successfully modernize its society and industrialize its economy. At the core of this process, which started more than 140 years ago, was the “adopt and adapt” concept by which a wide range of appropriate skills and knowledge have been imported from developed countries; these skills and knowledge have been adapted and/or improved using local skills, knowledge and initiatives. They finally became internalized in Japanese society to suit its local needs and conditions.

From engineering technology to production management methods, most of the know-how that has enabled Japan to become what it is today has emanated from this “adoption and adaptation” process, which, of course, has been accompanied by countless failures and errors behind the success stories. We presume that such experiences, both successful and unsuccessful, will be useful to our partners who are trying to address the challenges currently faced by developing countries.

However, it is rather challenging to share with our partners this whole body of Japan’s developmental experience. This difficulty has to do, in part, with the challenge of explaining a body of “tacit knowledge,” a type of knowledge that cannot fully be expressed in words or numbers. Adding to this difficulty are the social and cultural systems of Japan that vastly differ from those of other Western industrialized countries, and hence still remain unfamiliar to many partner countries. Simply stated, coming to Japan might be one way of overcoming such a cultural gap.

JICA, therefore, would like to invite as many leaders of partner countries as possible to come and visit us, to mingle with the Japanese people, and witness the advantages as well as the disadvantages of Japanese systems, so that integration of their findings might help them reach their developmental objectives.
