GENERAL INFORMATION ON

COMMUNITY BASED DISASTER RISK MANAGEMENT (A)
課題別研修「コミュニティ防災 (A)」
JFY 2015
NO. J1504419   ID.1584498
Course Period in Japan: From June 22nd to August 1st, 2015

This information pertains to one of the Group and Region-Focused Training of the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA), which shall be implemented as part of the Official Development Assistance of the Government of Japan based on bilateral agreement between both Governments.
I. Concept

Background
Kobe city has undertaken community based disaster prevention coordinated with welfare services, which is called “Disaster-Safe Welfare Community.” This activity aims for development of safer (disaster-safe) and comfortable (welfare) community, based on the lessons learnt from the Great Hanshin-Awaji Earthquake in 1995.

Limitation of “public-help” capabilities was recognized as one of the lessons, so this activity has put emphasis on “self-help” and “mutual help within a community” under the collaboration between residents, enterprises and local government (fire department plays a central role within local government in this approach of Kobe) both in ordinary time and at emergency.

It is expected that important information will be collected through activities of “Disaster-Safe Welfare Community,” especially through welfare activities, and that it will be made use of at the time of emergency.

Importance of community based disaster prevention has been emphasized based on lessons learnt from natural disasters occurred all over the world recently, and it is expected, accordingly, that this course will contribute to promotion of community based disaster prevention in each country by introducing and experiencing the Kobe’s effort of “Disaster-Safe Welfare Community.”

For what?
The participants will understand the significance of disaster risk management for natural disasters and needs of self-help and mutual help, and acquire the concrete method for promotion of community based disaster risk management in each country through the activities of self-help organization of residents for disaster risk management such as “Disaster-Safe Welfare Community” in Kobe City

For whom?
This program is designed for organizations which can play a leading role in promotion of community based disaster prevention and dissemination of self-help organization of residents for disaster prevention. (e.g. Disaster management planning organization/division, community development organization in central/local government)

How?
It is expected to contribute to promotion of community based disaster risk management in each country, by introducing Kobe’s effort of “Disaster-Safe Welfare Community.”

In this program, experience and practice will be emphasized; especially you will have some chances to participate in disaster drills in which residents play a leading role.

Format:
- Please modify your Job Report (made in the section A) to a presentation file using Microsoft PowerPoint®.
- Please include pictures and maps for easy understanding.
- One presentation per participant.
- Number of slides: about 10–12 slides. (format available: to be sent through JICA office separately.)

Language: English

Presentation time:
- Presentation: 10–15 minutes, including Q&A.
  (please be punctual with the duration of your presentation)

Submission: to be submitted no later than June 15, 2015 prior to your departure to Japan, via email to Gotouda.Fukiko.2@jica.go.jp.

Presentation Date and Place: To be informed at the beginning of the program in Japan

Others:
- Please bring your presentation data saved in the USB (Flash Drive).
- Please bring material(s) for the community-based disaster prevention in your country (If any) in order to share them among the other participants and Japanese attendants. (Ex. Brochures, leaflets, hazard maps, model kits, etc.)
ANNEX 2:

(Background information on training program “Community based Disaster Prevention – Introduction of Kobe’s Efforts”)

● What is “Disaster-Safe Welfare Community” (BOKOMI)?

Kobe city has undertaken community based disaster prevention coordinated with welfare services, which is called “disaster-safe welfare community” (BOKOMI).

This activity aims for development of safer (disaster-safe) and comfortable (welfare) community, based on the lessons learnt from the Great Hanshin-Awaji Earthquake in 1995.

If mutual-help activities take root in community in ordinary times, emergency response by residents will be effective at the time of emergency.

Firefighting, rescue effort and emergency relief were required simultaneously, which was beyond the capability of public support, at the time of the Great Hanshin-Awaji Earthquake. It is said that the 3/4 of those who were rescued, were rescued by their neighbors. It is also said that communities with strong tie in ordinary times showed remarkable mutual-help activities among residents than other communities.

It is expected that important information will be collected through activities of “Disaster-Safe Welfare Community,” especially through welfare activities, and that it will be made use of at the time of emergency. It is also expected that community ties will be strengthen through disaster drills, festivals and other events.

● How to establish “Disaster-Safe Welfare Community” (BOKOMI)?

1 Organizing people
   • A “Disaster-Safe Welfare Community” will be established based on school area of primary school. This size of organization will be easier for activate mutual-help.
   • Secretariat for a “Disaster-Safe Welfare Community” consists of volunteer fire corps, residents’ association, ladies’ society, society of senior people, social workers, PTA, Council for the Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency, regional shopping center, enterprises and so on.

2 Tips for formulation of “Disaster-Safe Welfare Community”

- To understand the community
- To promote activities with fun
- To help vulnerable people
- To involve inhabitants as much as possible
- To involve enterprises

3 Support Measures by Kobe city government

Kobe city government supports “Disaster-Safe Welfare Community” by the following 4 major items, especially at the occasions of events and festivals.

1) Support for disaster preparedness activities in community
   - Providing financial support for activities
   - Giving instruction by firefighter at disaster drills
   - Keeping cooperation with volunteer fire corps
2) Developing leaders among residents
   - Developing leaders for firefighting and rescue effort in community.
     One leader among 30-50 families is expected.
3) Providing equipments
   - Providing tools for emergency response such as bar, shovel, jack, saw, ax, canvas bucket etc.
4) Support for welfare activities in community
   - development of welfare center for community and support of its activities
   - giving financial support for home visit activities and food service
   - giving financial support for home care service and social interaction between disabled and non-disabled people
Simplified schematic diagrams for Disaster-Safe Welfare Community (BOKOMI)

- The Role of the fire station
  - Coordination among related organizations in community
  - Implementing/conducting variety of drills (drills for first aid, fire drill, flood drill, evacuation drill, drill for the use of equipment and materials for disaster prevention, drills for preparation of hot meals outdoors (TAKIDASHI) etc.)
  - Supervising at the time of formulation of community disaster prevention map.

JICA and Capacity Development

The key concept underpinning JICA operations since its establishment in 1974 has been the conviction that “capacity development” is central to the socioeconomic development of any country, regardless of the specific operational scheme one may be undertaking, i.e. expert assignments, development projects, development study projects, training programs, JOCV programs, etc.

Within this wide range of programs, Training Programs have long occupied an important place in JICA operations. Conducted in Japan, they provide partner countries with opportunities to acquire practical knowledge accumulated in Japanese society. Participants dispatched by partner countries might find useful knowledge and re-create their own knowledge for enhancement of their own capacity or that of the organization and society to which they belong.

About 460 pre-organized programs cover a wide range of professional fields, ranging from education, health, infrastructure, energy, trade and finance, to agriculture, rural development, gender mainstreaming, and environmental protection. A variety of programs and are being customized to address the specific needs of different target organizations, such as policy-making organizations, service provision organizations, as well as research and academic institutions. Some programs are organized to target a certain group of countries with similar developmental challenges.

Japanese Development Experience

Japan was the first non-Western country to successfully modernize its society and industrialize its economy. At the core of this process, which started more than 140 years ago, was the “adopt and adapt” concept by which a wide range of appropriate skills and knowledge have been imported from developed countries; these skills and knowledge have been adapted and/or improved using local skills, knowledge and initiatives. They finally became internalized in Japanese society to suit its local needs and conditions.

From engineering technology to production management methods, most of the know-how that has enabled Japan to become what it is today has emanated from this “adoption and adaptation” process, which, of course, has been accompanied by countless failures and errors behind the success stories. We presume that such experiences, both successful and unsuccessful, will be useful to our partners who are trying to address the challenges currently faced by developing countries.

However, it is rather challenging to share with our partners this whole body of Japan’s developmental experience. This difficulty has to do, in part, with the challenge of explaining a body of “tacit knowledge,” a type of knowledge that cannot fully be expressed in words or numbers. Adding to this difficulty are the social and cultural systems of Japan that vastly differ from those of other Western industrialized countries, and hence still remain unfamiliar to many partner countries. Simply stated, coming to Japan might be one way of overcoming such a cultural gap.

JICA, therefore, would like to invite as many leaders of partner countries as possible to come and visit us, to mingle with the Japanese people, and witness the advantages as well as the disadvantages of Japanese systems, so that integration of their findings might help them reach their developmental objectives.
